

Acton Jennings Website Privacy Notice & Cookies Policy

Acton Jennings LLP are committed to maintaining the trust and confidence of visitors to our web site and client subscribers to our newsletter. This Notice contains information on how we treat data that we collect from visitors to our website and subscribers to our newsletter.

Visitors to our Website

Acton Jennings LLP through www.actonjennings.com use Google Analytics, to collect standard internet log information and details of visitors to find out things such as the number of visitors to the various parts of the site. This information does not identify any living individual, nor do we make, any attempt to find out the identities of those visiting our website.

You can find more information on how cookies are used on this website in the Cookies Policy below.

Clients receive our monthly e-newsletter as part of our contractual obligation to them. We already process limited personal information about senior officers in our client companies. We do not share that information with anyone else or trade email lists with other organisations and businesses.

You can unsubscribe to general mailings at any time by clicking the unsubscribe link at the bottom of any of our emails or by emailing our data protection officer Jack Jennings.

Links to Other Web Sites

This privacy notice does not cover the links within this site linking to other websites. Those sites are not governed by this Privacy Policy, and if you have questions about how a site uses your information, you'll need to check that site's privacy statement.

Changes to this Privacy Notice

This privacy notice was created on 21 March 2018.

Cookies Policy

We use the Cookie classification developed by the International Chamber of Commerce UK. This Notice explains more about which cookies we use and why we use them.

What is a cookie?

Cookies are text files containing small amounts of information which are downloaded to your personal computer, mobile or other device when you visit a website. Cookies are then sent back to the originating website on each subsequent visit, or to another website that recognises that cookie. Cookies are useful because they allow a website to recognise a user's device.
